

Paul J van Diest studied Medicine, did his PhD and pathology residency at the Amsterdam University Medical Center (A-UMC) in The Netherlands. After obtaining his Board certification in Pathology in 1996, he became Consultant Pathologist at the Department of Pathology of the A-UMC. In 1999 he was appointed Associate Professor and in 2001 to full Professor. In 2003 he moved to Utrecht to become Head of the Department of Pathology at the University Medical Center Utrecht where he is currently still working. He is Adjunct Professor of Oncology at the Sidney Kimmel Oncology Center at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, USA and visiting professor at the University of Siena, Italy. He serves on the editorial board of many international journals. He has been active in the board as secretary and president of several international societies. He is an active researcher in translational oncopathology and digital pathology/AI, and member of the Editorial Board of the WHO Breast Blue Book. He has published >900 papers in peer reviewed journals, personally supervised >90 PhD theses, and has an H-index of 99.